New Point of Contact (Montenegro)

Nikola Perović

- Nikola Perović graduated at the Faculty of Computer Science at the University of Montenegro in Podgorica, where he specialized in programming and Robotics. He has a wealth of experience in robotics, having been a part of the national Robotics team in Montenegro, and participating in numerous international, European, and world competitions with significant results.
- In addition to his robotics work, Nikola is a co-founder and member of a regional organization called SESA, which aims to improve and educate countries in the region on space-related topics. The organization deals with satellites, exploration of the universe, and representatives of this organization exchange experiences, knowledge, and new discoveries. Nikola is the originator of a new chapter in Montenegro, and his goal is to initiate many new projects related to space, space objects, and research.
- Nikola is passionate about educating young people on space-related topics and has conducted numerous workshops on this subject. One of his main and current projects is the launch of the first Montenegrin satellite, "Luča," which is planned for next year. As the head of Montenegro Space Research, he is working tirelessly to make this project a success and to advance the country's space-related endeavors. His leadership, technical skills, and dedication to the field of space research make him a valuable asset to any organization.

8th Mission Idea Contest (MIC8)

Missions by multiple nano-satellites

- We encourage to organize regional/national competitions.
- The requirement is that the mission is carried out by multiple satellites made of 6U CubeSat or smaller each.
- The number of satellites can be anything as long as it is bigger than one and the mission has clear benefits of having multiple satellites in orbit at the same time.
- Constellation (with no inter-satellite link) missions and formation missions (with inter-satellite link) are both encouraged.
- Deadline of Application Submission is June 30th, 2023
